

Introduction

Voluntary registration is a choice you can make today to give you greater certainty and security about what you own.

Land Registry maintains and develops the register of title to freehold and leasehold land in England and Wales. There is no better way to safeguard ownership of land and property than by registering your title with us.

To encourage registration Land Registry has set up register development teams across England and Wales. We are also offering a 25 per cent discount on the usual registration fee.

In this folder we detail the benefits to be gained from registration and introduce you to some of the estates and organisations who are already reaping the rewards.
